Russian leader Navalny able to leave his bed

RUSSIAN OPPOSITION LEADER Alexei Navalny's health has improved so that he is now able to leave his bed briefly, the Berlin hospital treating him said Monday, while Germany announced that French and Swedish labs have confirmed its findings that he was poisoned with the Soviet-era nerve agent Novichok.

Navalny, the most prominent opponent of Russian President Vladimir Putin, was flown to Germany two days after falling ill on August 20 on a domestic flight in Russia and is being treated at Berlin's Charite hospital. Berlin has demanded that Russia investigate the case.

The Charite said Navalny has now been "successfully removed from mechanical ventilation."

"He is currently undergoing mobilisation and is able to leave his bed for short periods of time," it added.

Monday's statement didn't address the long-term outlook for the 44-year-old Russian politician and anti-corruption investigator. Doctors have cautioned that even though Navalny is recovering well,

With Ghosn gone, his alleged accomplice faces trial

ALMOST TWO YEARS after arriving in Japan for what he thought would be a quick two-day business trip, former Nissan Motor Co director Greg Kelly faces a trial in Tokyo scheduled to last 10 months, but which could land him in jail for as long as a decade if convicted.

The sole individual defendant in a case that has drawn global attention after former Nissan Chairman Carlos Ghosn's audacious escape from Japan, the criminal trial of Kelly is set to start September 15, his 64th birthday. The US citizen has been charged by Japanese prosecutors for his role in a alleged conspiracy to understate Ghosn's compensation by tens of millions of dollars, something Kelly strongly denies. Kelly's family and attorneys have questioned his ability to get a fair trial without his ex-boss's testimony and criticised the slow pace of judicial proceedings in Japan. The trial has already been delayed multiple times, and will extend through July - with a verdict not anticipated until next fall. Kelly and his lawyers won't discuss details about their strategy, but he has plead innocent and hopes to be fully exonerated. "I feel like I've already lost," Kelly said in an interview. "I was detained shortly after I turned 62, and I'm going to be 65 before the court makes a decision on this case. It's a violation of my human rights." Kelly, along with Ghosn and Nissan, was charged in December 2018 of helping Ghosn.

China warns US: China warned the United States on Monday of potential "serious damage" to their relations if it does not withdraw from an upcoming economic meeting with Taiwan that is expected to be attended by a senior American official. -AP
